

GLOBAL INTERDEPENDENCE
CENTER
International Dialogue Since 1976

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND INNOVATION
THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO

The Global Interdependence Center, in partnership with the University of Toledo, welcomes you to join us for an in-depth look at the factors that shape the Midwest economy.

Global Manufacturing, Supply Chains and Capital Availability:
The Impact on the Mid-West Economic Base

October 20, 2011 Crowne Plaza Toledo 8:30 am - 1:30 pm

This program will provide a comprehensive short, mid and long-term range analysis of global manufacturing, supply chains, availability of capital, job creation and international trade. Trends and interrelationships will be highlighted along with corresponding opportunities and threats.

The program will engage speakers on the following topics:

- Assessment of globalization of manufacturing and future trends.
- Opportunities for Mid-West supply chain companies and their constituents both in North America and elsewhere.
- The availability of capital to the supply chain.

Observations and comments will be offered by senior representatives, decision makers and leaders of the global automotive community.

Including:

Sandra Pianalto, President, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland

Jenny Lin, Senior Economist, Ford Motor Company

Bill Dunkelberg, Chief Economist, National Federation of Independent Business and GIC Chairman

Dr. Lloyd Jacobs, President, University of Toledo

Carl Marcotte, Vice President, Transportation Group, Export Development Canada

Also participating will be business entities active in export development and international automotive supply chain partnering.

Members $25

NonMember $35

Contact Jillian Fornito, GIC Director of Operations, at jfornito@interdependence.org or 215.898.9453
Global Interdependence Center 3701 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, PA 19104 • 215.898.9453 • Fax 215.898.0893 •
info@interdependence.org